Chuu-Chok VALENTINE's CONCERT Assessment

The event took place on the 13th of February at the College of Micronesia National Campus-Practice Gym where as it's very location provides a good and accessible setting for COM students-our valuable customers. The event was also open to the public community as well.

What we really want to evaluate is how well or how far good our organization has been able to improve over the several activities that has happened. This assessment will provide evidence and results of the event, rating our organizations participation in the event.

There was a total of 50 members. As you can see, the number of participants are mostly male, which is good. We do our best to have students participate in our activities to avoid having them engage in other distractions.

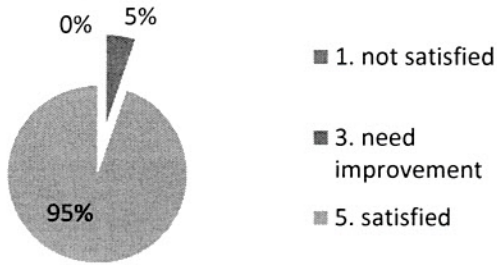

We've also asked for students' feedback on the event by having them fill out surveys. The results are followed below:

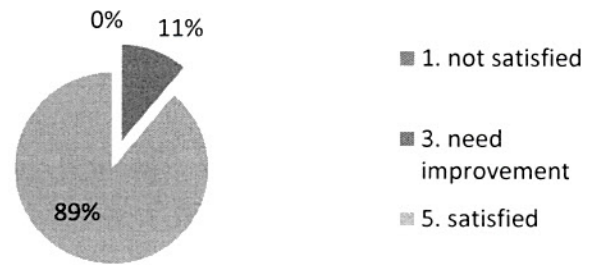

Because our goal was to first improvise our previous mistakes from our last activities, we asked students' what they thought about the time management of the event. In addition to that, we also wanted to know whether they positively think such activities as these enables them to be active in college.

c. The activity encourages friendship and unity among students

d. The activity motivates students' engagement in learning

We've also dedicated our time in asking "how" or "did" the event gave the students a positive cultural/social and academic impact as a student. We promote respect for one another. Additionally, we also want our activities to have a "student-learning" theme and practice-for instance, business majors will use their knowledge in our Bake sales and other fundraisers. Others, will be able to learn to interact with audience whereas this might be useful in their future workplaces.

And lastly, we collect students' perceptions or point of view in term of our Organization's theme: TEAM (Together Everyone Achieves More), whether we are living and acting up on our group motto or not. This is simply to strengthen and encourage each other that working together is a key to success.

e. The activity provides/displays students' involvement/participation
